SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR REMOTE LEARNING, SUCH AS FOR COSTS AND BENEFITS PERSONNEL AND PROFESSIONALS

ABSTRACT

A system and method for remote learning , such as in the area of compensation and benefits for costs and benefits personnel and professionals. The method can include receiving over a computer network a user request to access a remote course, providing course material for the requested, and providing a virtual picture frame wherein the frame surrounds the course material and includes one or more links to executable applications relevant to the requested course. The method can further include receiving a user request to access through a link in the virtual picture frame an executable application, executing the application and providing a display of the content of the application.